The Editor's Column

A delegation from the Carmel Music Society, and a representative from the Carmel Business Association, J. O. Handley, appeared before the school board Tuesday night. The Music Society group was made up of Miss Dene Denny, Miss Hazel Watrous, Noel Sullivan, Hal Garrott, Dr. and Mrs. W. B. Williams, Eben Whittlesey, Fritz Wurtzmann, and Miss Clara Kellogg. Through their spokesman, Miss Denny, they asked that the school board, which is planning to build a high school auditorium, build it with at least 1500 seating capacity—big enough so that big-name musicians, symphony orchestras, and even small opera companies could be brought here profitably. Handley wanted to know if the school board could finance such an undertaking without jeopardizing the interests of the students.

What was said, pro and con, was largely a repetition of what was said, pro and con, in the December 7 and 14, 1945 issues of the Pine Cone, when this paper conducted a symposium, quoting various citizens' views on what size the high school auditorium should be. Then, as now, there was a difference of opinion.

The school board thanked the citizens for their suggestions, and said they would take them into consideration when they came to their decision, which need not be immediately, since an auditorium cannot be built for some time yet —for several years at least.

For whom are we building the auditorium?

Of course Carmel wants a civic auditorium. What town doesn't? But why some of us should expect the school board to build it for us is a little difficult to understand.

Various cagey citizens have suggested that the school district takes in more territory, people, and assessable property than the city, therefore the cost would be spread more if the civic auditorium was built by the school district rather than by the city. And this is sound thinking—with one catch—a pretty large one. What about the kids?

J. O. Handley, who has school age children, brought out two points regarding finances, in his appearance before the school board Tuesday night. There is a limit to the amount of debt the school district may legally assume. If the school board uses enough of its bondable allowance to finance a civic auditorium, will there be enough left to bond for necessary school improvements, and certain unnecessary but to many people more desirable improvements than an auditorium of such proportions, namely a swimming pool, student union and youth center? Even so, if the bond issue that will have to be floated to complete the high school building program includes a civic auditorium, will it not be for so large an amount that the citizens will vote it down, and the students will end up without necessary class room facilities, pool and auditorium of any kind?

I think the people who advocate an auditorium of 1500 seating capacity, and they are some of our

Dear Readers of the Pine Cone:

Who will help a troop of "Camping Scouts" in Brest, France, by donating a tent to hold 3 or 4, or by letting me know where one can be obtained?

The request for a tent comes from a teacher, M. Yves Daniel, now regional Director D'Orintation Professionnelle in Brittany. He is particularly interested in some boys in Brest, because many were orphaned during the liberation of France.

There are no tents in the stores, now, and none are being made, so my only hope is to appeal to the readers of The Pine Cone. M. Daniel cannot send money in return for a tent, as drafts are not yet available, but he states that he would send Breton pottery, lace or other articles "en souvenir."

M. Daniel, until his recent transfer to Quimper and Brest, taught in Creve-Coeur-En-Auge, Normandy, in a school which some young friends and I "adopted" through American Relief for France, Inc. Several letters from him and his boys are available in the Pine Cone office, if anyone is interested in reading them. Their expressions of gratitude, their courage, and their faith in France are very touching.

Anything we can do to cement the friendship begun by "the G.I.'s who showered us with chewing gum," to quote one little boy, is to help cement international friendship.

These children are destitute, many fatherless. Think what a Boy Scout Troop can do for them—give a sense of belonging, give them standards of conduct and morals.

Please, can someone find a tent?

GETTING AROUND THE PENINSULA

WITH BETH

Apropo of this week's celebration of the Centennial of California's first newspaper, the Monterey Californian, we learn from an early issue of the Pine Cone that this paper really did have a rival, although not a printed one. It was known in Monterey as the Washtub Mail. It seems that there were some natural springs on the outskirts of town which were used as community washtubs. Maid servants and those housewives who could not afford servants went to this place regularly, to do work and exchange gossip. Chief sources of information were the Indians who were always on the move and who knew everything, and the politicians who had their own reasons for stopping by and passing on certain pieces of information. Thus for the Gringos, the Washtub Mail was an excellent way to learn the latest news, and for a trinket, a piece of gold or a mantilla that news was available. Sources were usually what now are termed unimpeachable. Alcalde Walter Colton said of the Washtub Mail: "It is an old mail that has long been run in California, and has announced more revolutions, plots and counterplots than there are mummies in Memphis." Only when a love story was involved did the Washtub Mail prevaricate. No one bought love stories, and there was no need for them to be true.

Carelessness by deer hunters was believed to have been the cause of a brush and grass fire which covered more than eight acres on Mt. Toro Sunday morning. A Salinas fire crew and the crew from the State Division of Forestry finally managed to bring the blaze under control. Despite repeated warnings, there are many hunters who still do not believe that a burning cigarette, dropped in dry grass, can start a fire that could have extremely serious and tragic consequences. This entire area is in its driest season of the year and will remain so for another two months, possibly more.

Deputy Sheriff Jack McCoy has been appointed Monterey County Sheriff by the County Board of Supervisors, succeeding Sheriff Alex Bordges who died last week. He will serve until January, 1947, at which time the man winning the November election for the office will take over the duties. Those running for the office are McCoy and Fred Moore, Monterey's Chief of Police. McCoy has served ten years as a deputy, and from 1932 to 1936 was a member of the Pacific Grove police force.

NO CLARION CALL

The rumor that the school board had sent out a call to the citizens of the district to attend its meeting Tuesday evening and reopen the argument about what size the proposed high school auditorium should be was denied by members of the board following the meeting. (See Editor's Column, this page, for an account of the meeting). The board always welcomes an expression of citizen opinion at its meetings, they told the Pine Cone, but they had not sent out an appeal at this time for an expression of public opinion on this particular issue, which was well aired last December. If they had, they would have used the Pine Cone as the logical means of notifying the citizens.

Carmel Music Foundation Incorporates; School, Civic Orchestra Planned

The Carmel Music Foundation became a legal entity yesterday with the filing of the articles of incorporation.

The official name to emerge after much discussion is The Carmel Music Foundation. It is a non profit organization and the purpose as stated in the articles of incopration are:

"To establish a graduate school of music for the Pacific Coast and Western States of the United States; to aid and further the careers of worthy western musicians by providing auditions and management services; to promote and manage concerts and musical events for the musical education and instruction of the general public; to foster and encourage American music and composers; and to sponsor, undertake and participate in music research; to foster and finance community music activities, and in particular to develop community consciousness of the value of music in national life and to bring about a more general participation by the public in musical events; to promote and operate courses of public instruction in music through adult schools or otherwise; to engage in any other activity pertaining to a school of music and the development of the musical arts, and to enter into co-operative arrangements with other activities in the cultural arts."

"A great many high-sounding words to say, simply, that the primary purpose is the establishment of a graduate school of music here, which will not compete with or duplicate the activities of the other musical organizations," Peter Mawdsley, financial manager for the corporation, pointed out.

For the past year the Foundation, through its predecessor, has been active in Peninsula music life through the sponsorship of the highly successful Summer Music Series, which made available at nominal cost and when no other musical fare was planned, such artists as Artur Rubinstein, Lotte Lehmann, Josef Szigeti. Now, with the incorporation of the organization, two major projects are being undertaken, the Advanced School of Music and the Community Music Program.

"The purpose of the school is to furnish the facilities for furthering the careers of those California artists who need the opportunity to be heard, especially those artists of proven ability and professional standing who are not under the management of national agencies." Carmalita Benson, director, said: "Major consideration at present is the future location of the school, and several sites, both here on the Peninsula and elsewhere in California, have been offered. The aim of the Community Music Program is the establishment of a permanent orchestra, chorus and opera group whose activities will be participated in by residents of the entire peninsula. By actively encourging public participation in musical events, community consciousness of the value of music in our national life will be increased."

Has He Won Bus Stop Campaign? Pulliam Wonders

The Restore the Bus Stop On Lincoln Street Campaign, waged by Col. W. E. Pulliam for over a year and a half to an apparently successful conclusion last week, has now progressed to another stage, Will It Stop Of Its Own Accord or Do We Have To Pull The Cord!

"It's an opera bouffe situation that couldn't happen anywhere but in Carmel. It's unbelievable, its ridiculous, incredible, slightly outrageous and down-right funny," says Pulliam.

Over a year ago, the civic authorities decided that the Bay Rapid Transit Company Bus stop on Lincoln beside the Library was an impediment to traffic. So orders were issued to discontinue the stop. And passengers, who for ten years had been accustomed to get out of the bus at Lincoln and Ocean were whisked around the corner to the bus terminal at Sixth and Dolores. A great deal of dissatisfaction was expressed by the passengers, who now had to walk two blocks more than formerly.

Col. Pulliam saw the mayor, saw the Bay Rapid Transit people. The Mayor wouldn't budge, the Bay Rapid Transit was powerless against an unbudgable mayor. And

Fuchsia Thief On The Prowl In Carmel Gardens

Two more fuchsia plants were stolen from a Carmel garden this week, making this the second theft of this kind since Monday, Carmel police reported yesterday afternoon. The second theft was reported by Eugene O. Thompson, Santa Fe and Mountain View near 8th, who said that one plant in a three-cornered redwood hanging basket and another in a redwood log had been taken from his garden sometime early yesterday morning.

Neighbors noticed a tan colored sedan with no license plates in the vicinity Wednesday afternoon. Plants missing were a Charles Abrams and a Blue Gown, both unusually beautiful specimens.

The first theft was reported by Mrs. J. R. Kreps, Dolores and 8th, on Monday morning. The fuchsias missing from her garden were the Hanging Balkan, a delicate pink and white, and a Papilio, a purple and red. Both of these plants were in hanging redwood baskets of unusual design.

Because the plants are heavy, police believe a car is used to haul them away, and those taking them may be attempting to re-sell them. Anyone having information which may help to nab the thief is asked to contact Carmel police headquarters.

STOCKTON BOUND

On Monday night, August 19, the Carmel Pine Cone softball team will make its debut in the 1946 California State Softball Championship Tournament at Stockton. Their opponent will be the winner of the Oakley All-Stars-K. R. Nutting Co. game, which will be played Saturday night. The game will be played on diamond No. 2 and will commence at 7 p. m.

This tournament is one of the finest in the country and leads to the National Championship Tournament at Cleveland, Ohio, if a team is fortunate enough to win it. The following awards are offered: To the winner in the men's division, $2000.00 in cash to be used for transportation to Cleveland—in addition one year's possession of regular Championship Trophy. To the runner-up in the final game, $300.00 partial expense award. To the loser in the semi-final game, $150.00 partial expense award.

The following players will make the trip and represent the Carmel Pine Cone team: Ky Miyamoto, Joe Niccholson, Bud Butts, Chuck Cheshire, Harold Studevant, Ashley Stetson, Gene Ricketts, Thurman Fought, Kelly Taylor, Ray Gumm, Jay Huffman, Jim Kelsey, Raleigh Belvail, Jack Giles, and Kenny Roberts.

DONS BOW TO PINE CONE

A preview of what is likely to happen at the Stockton Tournament was presented to the Carmel fans last Saturday night, when the Pine Cone and Castroville softball nines battled it out in a very even ball game. Replete with fine plays, good pitching, and spirited competition the game provided tops in entertainment for a capacity crowd.

As the game progressed, it became evident that Joe Nicholson's home run, slammed out in the second inning, was going to be the deciding factor in the ball game. Castroville threatened to score several times, but fine fielding by the Pine Cone aggregation snuffed out their scoring chances.

With the score 1 to 0 in the top half of the seventh, Bob Smick, Don left fielder, connected with one of Ky's fast pitches and laid it against the school house. It looked like extra innings, at this point, but a fielding gem by Gene Ricketts brought the relay into the plate in time to erase the runner at home—a fitting climax to a fine game.

By shutting out the Castroville nine, the Pine Cone team has held their opposition scoreless for the last 57 innings. Fine pitching by Ky Miyamoto and Ray Gumm coupled with spirited play by the rest of the team has been responsible for this outstanding record.

PINE CONE BLANKS 287th

Sixty-four scoreless innings. That's the record established by the Pine Cone softballers after hanging a horse-collar on the team from Fort Ord. The Signal boys were full of fight and tried their best to dent the platter, but the pitching and fielding of the Carmel nine was too good.

With Ky Miyamoto and Ray Gumm on the injured list, and Jay Huffman on vacation, the locals had to dig deep for a pitcher. The answer was found in the person of Jim Burdick, who, not only pitched 4 hit ball, but also, hit two for three.

Belvail, Nicholson, and Ricketts each collected two hits to provide most of the scoring punch, while a sensational fielding play by Jim Kelsey helped to keep the soldiers from scoring.

Short score:	R	H	E
Signal Company	0	4	4
Carmel Pine Cone	6	7	0

Batteries: 287th Signal Co.—Taylor and McPherson.
Pine Cone—Burdick and Nicholson. Umpires: Del Monfe, Baker, and Cheshire.

POLICE TRIM FIREMEN IN ADULT LEAGUE PLAY

The new red caps sported by the Firemen were just the spark needed to arouse the Police to winning play last Wednesday night. Seeing red and playing with new determination the Police gathered ten runs while holding the hard hitting Firemen to nine.

With Raleigh Belvail covering the outfield like a tent and throwing strikes into the plate, the Firemen found it a long haul from first to home.

Roy Fraties and Tom Hefling were the big guns in the Police offense. The Chief gathered a neat 3 for 4 while Tom came through with 2 blows in 3 attempts. Studevant was the leading slugger for the fire fighters, garnering 3 hits from the offerings of Jim Kelsey.

Now that they are in a winning streak the word is out — look out for the Police.

Short Score:	R	H	E
Firemen	9	12	4
Police	10	11	3

Batteries: Firemen— Roberts and Warren; Police— J. Kelsey and Fraties.

CARMEL MIDGET TENNIS CHAMPIONSHIPS

Saturday and Sunday August 17th and 18th the Carmel Midget Tennis Championships will be conducted on the High School courts.

Sponsored as a part of the Carmel Unified School District Summer Recreation program the tournament receives its name from the large entry of boys and girls under 13 years of age.

Play will start promptly at 10 a.m. Saturday morning under the direction of Pat Timbers, Ann Rigdon, Jennefer Lloyd, Nancy Wilson, and Lee Winslow.

Entered in the thirteen and under draw will be: Phyllis Burnett, Penny Bestor, Karen von Meier, Carol Timbers, Allene Knight, Nancy Bacon, Gay Masten, Pat Merivale, Alyse Knight, Dona Douglas, Edwina Brown, and Pat Finley. For the boys there will be: Warren Masten, Allen Knight, Keith Harris, Griff Fassett, Skipper Lloyd, Gilbert Neill, Donald Canham, Mansfield Turney, Jonathan Rigdon, Bobbie Updyke, Richard Du Brau, and Kurt von Meier.

A 15 and under novice girls group will see: Margaret Rigdon, Shirley Elliott, Anne Ferrante, Kathy von Meier, Marjorie Glennon, Ann Vaughn, Laurel Hildebrand, Zoe Beyma, Helen Prosser, Sheilah O'Brien, and Sydney Hudson competing for tennis honors.

The finals will be held Sunday afternoon and prizes awarded to winners. Refreshments will be served at the courts.

Andre Moreau's Show at Pat Wall Gallery

BY NANCY LOFTON

"Abstract art exists in historical depth from the eolithic primitive to date." This sentence of Andre Moreau, whose paintings are being exhibited at the Pat Wall Gallery on Olivier Street in Monterey until August 25, might be a good watchword to take with you when you go to the gallery. It is odd that abstract design occasions little excitement as long as it is confined to Etruscan potshards, Samoan tapa cloths or Persian rugs or modern window display, but put a frame around an abstract design, call it non-objective painting, and a certain hue and cry begins. Of course there is this difference between abstract design as such and abstract painting. An abstract painting must have coherence and organic unity.

Mr. Moreau's canvases are all experiments in abstract forms, in the same sense that Bach's Well-Tempered Clavichord is an experiment with tones. Some of the canvases are in high and brilliant keys and some of them are in muted tones, but his general attack is strong and vigorous, and there is a total absence of wishy-washiness.

The two canvases on either side of the entrance door make an interesting pair to study. The first, Variations On A Primary Theme, endeavors successfully to develop in a two-dimensional field a design based on the use of the three primary colors and their variations. Mr. Moreau, who is apt to think in terms of music as well as in terms of color, says he was mindful of Bach's Passacaglia in C Minor, which is an involved variation of a simple eight note theme, when he was painting Variations On A Primary Theme. The tones of this are vibrant red, yellow and blue and mutations of those colors, which form a surging diagonal pattern.

The companion piece to this canvas is Harbor Variations, in which the basic design is the same, but on a horizontal plane. The identical forms are used, but in a different relation and the colors, which in the former picture were high and bright in key, here become muted and subdued. These two pictures alone make an interesting study into the problems and experiments and purposes of non-objective paintings.

Among the other canvases in the show you can find much to repay study. The Portrait of an Idea seeks to catch the personaility of George Leite of Circle Magazine, and in the picture's closely knit circles and living color ,in its rising movement and piercing diagonals, one can sense a personality vivid, intense, almost painfully awake.

Necromancy, subtitled, Skeletons I have Met In other People's Closets, has interesting surface effects and color quality and a good quality of hanging-together.

Mr. Moreau's show displays a great seriousness of purpose and a development of added solidity and strength in his work. He has discarded much that is traditional in painting, but that has been in great part the inevitable pruning away that must precede new growth in his attempts to find his own individual and personal mode of expression.

Pilgrimage Planned On Anniversary Of Fr. Serra's Death

"Give eternal rest to them, O Lord." Father Junipero Serra, born November 24, 1713 at Petra Isle de Mallarca, Spain. Received the Franciscian Habit at the age of 17. Embarked for the Mission of Mexico 1749. Founded the Carmel Mission June 3, 1770. Died August 28, 1784. The life of a man dedicated to God and to the founding of a country. A country where freedom of man to his God and his country still carries on such a dedication.

On Sunday, August 25, a pilgrimage, headed by Father Mitchell Brendan O.F.M., of the Third Order Franciscians (a lay group) will be made from San Francisco and the bay area to the Carmel Mission. A wreath will be placed on the tomb of Father Serra in memory of the 172nd anniversary of his death.

During High Mass, which will be celebrated at 12:00 o'clock Father Eric O'Brien, O.F.M. of the Santa Barbara Mission will deliver a sermon on the life of Father Serra. Father O'Brien is in charge of the cannonization of Father Serra. There will be about 200 or 250 participating in the pilgrimage.

Dr. R. A. Kocher Opens Offices In La Giralda Bldg.

Dr. R. A. Kocher opened offices this week at Seventh and Dolores on the second floor of La Giralda building, over the offices he left in the summer of 1942 to enter the army.

During the war he was chief of medical service of the 203rd General Hospital, which after service in England was sent to Paris, the first and largest hospital to be established there. During his duty in Paris, Dr. Kocher was sent to London to attend lectures and participate in laboratory work under Sir Alexander Fleming, the discoverer of penicillin. He also served as preceptor at the Edinburgh Royal Infirmary, assisting the staff, participating in research work and instructing.

His studies in penicillin led to the discovery of how to use the drug successfully in the treatment of diphtheria carriers. His article, the Diphtheria Carriers Treated with Penicillin, written with Dr. Walter J. Siemsen of Denver, appeared in the May, 1946, Annals of Internal Medicine. Requests for reprints have come in from medical schools, hospitals, clinics and boards of health throughout the United States, and from the University of Toronto, Canada. Treatment will probably be adopted universally by health departments and hospitals, as the only successful one to date.

Editorials...

best citizens, have lost sight of one point, the function of the school district. Several of them said, several times, that they thought that if the board didn't build an auditorium at least twice the size of the one at Sunset, they shouldn't build one at the high school at all.

If the primary purpose of building an auditorium at the high school was to accommodate commercial concerts and road shows, then the citizens' statement is sound. There is no point in duplicating auditoriums. But, the primary purpose in building any school auditorium is to provide a place of assembly for the students. It would be a bit awkward for the high school youngsters to rush down to Sunset for a twenty-minute assembly. And it has been proved that Sunset's acoustics are unsatisfactory for the voices of students in school plays. The results of several attempts to put on high school performances there have been so dismal that a budding high school dramatics department has faded away for lack of a suitable place to give performances.

In view of these facts, I think that if the school board should see its way clear to build a civic auditorium of 1500 seating capacity, it should also build an auditorium annex, an auxiliary assembly place seating from 500 to 700, where the kids could hold their assemblies, school plays, rallies and the various other functions for which they need an auditorium. As for expecting the kids to employ a 1500 capacity auditorium satisfactorily —Miss Denny, one of the exponents for the big auditorium, said that the Curran Theatre in San Francisco seats 1500. Do you picture 370 high school students holding an assembly in the Curran theatre!

Why not let the school board go ahead and build a small auditorium, thinking only of the needs of the students? The end result should be a small theatre available to the citizens, as well, for amateur dramatic productions and recitals. There is a need for such a theatre for the encouragement of local dramatic and musical talent.

Then, if we feel big and brave enough, we can build, through the city government, a civic auditorium of the proportions the music society is requesting, for symphony orchestras, and the great-name artist concerts. We could put the city offices in the basement.

The city council has a nest egg it gathered during the war and is nursing for a city hall. The music society has just received an inheritance of $25,000. Why not put them together, float a city bond issue to cover the remainder needed and build a city-hall-auditorium? Even the Pine Cone would go for that! Then the prisoners in the jail in the basement could enjoy Heifetz by remote control. Let's be really unique!

St. vs. Ave.

It doesn't matter whether you're a simple soul who calls all the streets here, "Streets", such as Sixth Street, Junipero Street, etc., or the more complicated type who calls everything "Avenue," Sixth Avenue, Lincoln Avenue, etc., you're wrong.

All numbered streets in Carmel are "Avenue."

All named streets in Carmel are "Street" except: Santa Lucia, Junipero, Ocean, San Antonio, Carmelo.

This information was obtained from City Clerk Peter Mawdsley, who has a map he says is official.

Lions Club Addressed By State Journalist

Earl Van Sooy, director of the Stanford Alumni Association and owner of a newspaper in Azusa, addressed the Carmel Lions Club at the Tuesday night meeting and used as his topic the history of newspapers in this state. In his talk, he outlined the history of journalism in California, beginning with the publication of the Monterey California, just 100 years ago.

Other guests at the meeting were Reed Freeman, William O'Donnell, Hal Daley, Jack Peat, A. Brown and H. V. Horstmann.

Has He Won Bus Stop Campaign? Pulliam Wonders

things remained in status quo. Then there was a change of administration and Col. Pulliam approached the new powers that be, which agreed to restore the bus stop forthwith.

When everything became official Monday, Colonel Pulliam got aboard the bus at Monterey so as to enjoy getting off at long last at the old-new stop on Lincoln Street—and was whisked right by!

It seems the company decided the stop was a flag stop. If people wanted to get out they should pull the cord. "But how, after a year and a half of being told that the bus won't stop there, were the people to know they can get out now by pulling the cord?" Pulliam wanted to know.

The Bay Rapid Transit saw reason in this. A regular stop was ordered. Tuesday, Colonel Pulliam waited on the bench by the library to see, and sure enough, the bus made the stop and two-thirds of the passengers disembarked.

But Wednesday — guess what! The bus sailed right by again.

Well, anyway, this much is established. If you pull the cord you can get out at Lincoln and Ocean. And now, you know you can, there's no reason why you shouldn't.

Savoy Co. To Give Mikado Here Aug. 20

After two successful seasons in San Francisco the Savoy Light Opera Company, under the management of Barry Breden, brings to Carmel a series of three of the ever popular Gilbert and Sullivan Operettas.

The Mikado, will be the first road attraction playing at Sunset Auditorium on August 20. Pinafore, the second of the series on August 27 and Patience September 3, with other Gilbert and Sullivan series to follow.

While the "Savoyards" are still playing in San Francisco, they are touring the first part of the week in their repertoire series to nearby California communities.

With Marsden Argall, Virginia Blair, Edgar Iverson, Percy Hutchings, Sue Bell Brown, Jean Longstreet in the principal roles, this seasoned company gives a lively and tuneful performance. The stylized version of The Mikado was directed by Edgar Iverson, who recently returned from a Gilbert and Sullivan tour of the Shuberts in the East.

CHRISTIAN SCIENCE CHURCH

The subject of the Christian Science Lesson-Sermon for Sunday, August 18, is "Soul" with the Golden Text from Luke: "My soul doth magnify the Lord, and my spirit hath rejoiced in God my Saviour" (1:46, 47).

The following citations are included in the sermon:

Psalms 84:11: "For the Lord God is a sun and shield: the Lord will give grace and glory: no good thing will he withhold from them that walk uprightly."

"Science and Health with Key to the Scriptures" by Mary Baker Eddy: "The sun is not affected by the revolution of the earth. So science reveals Soul as God, untouched by sin and death,—as the central Life and intelligence around which circle harmoniously all things in the systems of Mind" (p. 310).

St. John's Chapel is a beautiful little church nestling in a grove of giant oak trees. Men and women from many lands have found it to be a place apart. It may be that you also will find its atmosphere congenial to the spiritual life. The Chapel is open all day long. Those who seek in its stillness to grow more conscious of God's presence do not go unrewarded.

Sunday services at eight and eleven a.m. The Chapel is close to Hotel Del Monte.

Rachel Morton To Give Concert Here August 24

Friends of Rachel Morton and those interested in a classical program of the best in German, French and English songs, will be given an opportunity to hear her in such a program on Saturday evening, August 24, at 8:30 p.m. at the High School Music Room.

Miss Morton has not been heard in Carmel for two years. With the return of her former accompanist, Robert Bates, who appeared with her in many concerts in the East before Miss Morton came to California, she decided to present a joint concert with him.

Rachel Morton has had a remarkable musical background. A protege of the great tenor, Jean de Reszose, she made her operatic debut in Nice, France. She was leading dramatic soprano with the Covent Garden Opera Company in England for five years. She sang many times with Walter Damrosch.

She had the unique opportunity of studying the German Lieder with Robert Schumann's grandson. Roland Hayes, hearing her sing recently, said, "She ought to be heard by the younger generation, for such art is rarely heard today."

First Theatre To Revive "Pinafore"

Pinafore, the Gilbert and Sullivan operetta which the Troupers of the Gold Coast sang and played so hilariously several years ago, is being revived at the First Theatre, Monterey, and will open on Thursday evening, August 29, to run through the week-end and on Saturday and Sunday nights through September, October and into November.

Robert Bates from Michigan, summering in Carmel, has been engaged by the Denny-Watrous Management to direct the productions, and rehearsals have been going on intensively since the last week of July. The full cast will be announced next week.

Rose of the Rancho, current First Theatre show, has but five more performances: tonight, Saturday and Sunday, and Friday and Saturday of next week, the closing date being August 24.

As is traditional with all First Theatre productions, an olio will follow Pinafore.

MUSIC FOR ELSIE ARDEN

BY UNA JEFFERS

"Rose Aylmer, whom these wakeful eyes
May weep, but never see,
A night of memories and of sighs
I consecrate to thee."

I remembered Landor's poignant lines that evening, lately, when a few of us sat in Noel Sullivan's beautiful new music room. We were all friends of Elsie Arden, people who had felt the generosity and rich vitality of her life, in California, in New York, in Paris.

There was a rare conjunction of musicians at Hollow Hills Farm,—artists able to express their devotion in her own language of music,—and we others were assembled to listen.

There was Jacques Jolas, a favorite pupil of Busoni, and a concert pianist with world tours behind him, whose career was interrupted by a serious illness from which he has made a valiant recovery. He has been resting and working at Hollow Hills. He played first two Scarlatti sonatas, lucid and clear-cut, next the amazing Brahms arrangement for left hand of a Bach chaconne, a tricky piece which went with brilliance and precision. Finally we heard Ravel's tremendous concerto written for the left hand. Stephanie Schehatovitch, she also a greatly gifted pianist, a special pupil of Godowsky and well known figure in the concert world, played the second piano. As Jolas pointed out, she gave him the support of a full orchestra. A magnificent performance of an opus few in the room had heard before. Jolas will broadcast this over Columbia network in the near future. It is exciting and confusing. One must hear this great concerto many times before its intricate pattern can become entirely clear.

The players made an arresting picture, too, sitting at their pianos against the tapestried wall;— he with his sensitive scholarly face, and she so dark and vibrant.

Now, with Schehatovitch at the piano, Noel sang four songs from Schumann's lovely Dichter Liebe. I have never heard him sing with such depth and moving tenderness. Later he spoke a few words about Elsie. He said, "I know of only two ways we can communicate with our dead,— through prayer and through music."

At the last Elizabeth Alexander was sitting quietly at the piano, and from the balcony behind us, above the gentle perfection of her accompaniment, Roland Hayes' voice floated through the room, golden, rich with human understanding, giving equal value to the music and the words, Haydn and Shakespeare. It was a favorite song of hers,—"She never told her love."

We silently drank a toast and said in our hearts, "Ave atque vale, Elsie,—you are steadfast in our memories."

Able Cast Working On 'Man Who Came . . .' Opens on August 19

This coming Monday night, August 19th, at the Golden Bough Playhouse the outstanding theatrical talent of Monterey Peninsula will enact the famous comedy, The Man Who Came To Dinner, by Moss Hart and George S. Kaufman. Edward Kuster is directing, with Betty Stevens assisting. Kuster is also playing the exacting role of Sheridan Whiteside, the man whose dinner was—but that would be telling. As a matter of fact, the story of the play is an open secret, but the lines of the original play, uninhibited by the absurdities of movie censorship, crackle and sparkle in a manner impossible for the motion picture version. A hilarious impression of Alexander Woolcott and his world, there has been no better comedy of American life in a generation.

The cast, in order of appearance, follows:

Mrs. Ernest W. Stanley, Barbara Norberg; Miss Preep, Carolyn Reenstra; Richard Stanley, Bill Holm; June Stanley, Beverly Leidig; John, Cecil ("Pop") Smith; Sarah, Glad Parks; Mrs. Dexter, Sybil Resnick; Mrs. McCutcheon, Carmalita Benson; Mr. Ernest W. Stanley, (opening performance) Mateo Lettunich, (other performances), George McMenamin.

Maggie Cutler, Susan Wiman; Dr. Bradley, Gene Eplett; Sheridan Whiteside, Edward Kuster; Harriet Stanley, Sydney Miller; Bert Jefferson, John Taylor; Professor Adolf Metz, Fritz Wurzmann; Luncheon Guests, Francis Randol, Paul Funchese, Robert Apple.

Mr. Baker, Darwin Reid; Expressman, Charles Kilian; Lorraine Sheldon, Patty Redmond; Sandy, Anthony Garofoli; Beverly Carlton, David Lawton; Westcott, William Wheeler; Radio Technician, Colin Kuster; Singers, Brooke Grant, Marcia Kuster, Peggy Doud; Banjo, Alfred Wagstaff.

The production staff for the elaborate presentation includes, besides the director and Betty Stevens, assistant director, the following: Robert Apple, Brooke Grant, Ruth Warshawsky, Gabrielle Kuster, Anthony Garofoli, Eayre Grigg, Darwin Reid, Jane Parker, Gertrude Packard, Gloria Boyd, Dorothy Rieck and Joan Aucourt.

Tickets are on sale at the Playhouse, with reservations available by phoning 403-W. Curtain at eight thirty sharp, after which no one will be ushered to a seat until the end of the first scene.

Pumps (like people) need A PERIODIC CHECK-UP . .

Many California farmers are pumping more water today, at less cost for electricity, because they have taken advantage of P. G. & E's free irrigation engineering services.

Pumps can lose some of their efficiency after extended use over a period of time, so it's well to give them an occasional check-up. Even though the cost of electricity now is lower than ever, you may need even less power if your pump is performing at its best.

Pacific Gas and Electric Company's irrigation engineers will be glad to consult with you on your irrigation problems—to help you determine the efficiency of your plant and the best methods of operating it.

For maintenance and repairs on your pump, see your dealer.

LIONS ROAR—DOWN POLICE

Upholding prognostications, made by experts, that they are the team to beat in the second half, the Lions Club played big-league ball to shellack the Police by a comfortable margin. The shock-troop method, employed by Manager Cliff Cook, proved too much for the law enforcers. Employing a blinding fast ball, Ernie Morehouse held the opposition to a meager 4 runs, and paved the way for Paul Clemens and his assortment of pitching tricks.

Leading the Lion hitters were Chuck Cheshire and Waldo Hicks. Waldo hit a tremendous triple in the fourth inning to practically ice the game for the Clubmen, and Chuck garnered a nice two for three and scored two runs.

The Kelsey skippered Police had an off night at the plate and none of their batters were able to connect for more than one safe blow.

Short Score:	R	H	E
Police	4	4	3
Lions	8	8	2

Batteries: Police—J. Kelsey and R. Fraties. Lions—E. Morehouse, Clemens, and Wilder.

CARRIERS BOUNCE JEEPS

In a preliminary to the Castroville-Pine Cone game on Saturday evening, the Herald Carriers nosed out the Pacific Grove Jeeps 5 to 4. This was a close, well played ball game which was decided in the last inning.

Paul Artellan pitched steady ball for the Carriers, and was afforded excellent support by his mates. The consistent hitting of Updike and Overin was responsible for the five runs tallied by the Herald's.

Short Score:	R	H	E
P. G. Jeeps	4	6	2
Herald Carriers	5	7	2

Batteries: P. G.—Crocker and McCormick. Herald Carriers — P. Artellan and Canhan.

PINE CONE JRS. UNDEFEATED

Proving that their victory in the first half of the Kid's League was no fluke, the Pine Cone Jrs. took the best the Herald Carriers had to offer and gave just a little more in return. Going into the first of the seventh inning things looked pretty dark for the Juniors, as they were trailing by one run. Leading off with a single by Dick Weer, the Pine Cone lads batted all the way around, and when the dust had cleared, they were leading by 6 runs.

The Herald boys put on a nice exhibition of softball for six innings and should offer plenty of contention for the rest of the teams in the league. Narvaez, Herald pitcher, turned in one of the finest hurling jobs of the year, and with a little more experience, he should develop into a first rate chucker.

Short Score:	R	H	E
Herald Carriers	4	6	4
Pine Cone Jrs.	10	6	2

RECREATION NOTES

A fine opportunity for Carmel youngsters to participate in competitive swimming will be presented Saturday afternoon, at the Pacific Grove pool. At 1:30 p. m. on this date an open swimming meet is being conducted and the Carmel kids are invited to participate. There will be free style, back stroke, and breast stroke events for boys and girls from 10 to 19 years of age. Any Carmel boy or girl desiring to participate may sign up with Ted Fehring or George Mosolf. Remember the date and place: 1:30, Saturday, August 16—Pacific Grove pool.

There will be no swimming at Howden pool for the next two Monday afternoons. All youngsters who wish to swim Monday afternoons may do so at La Playa Ranch. The transportation for La Playa leaves Sunset School at 1 o'clock. On Monday, August 26, there will be a swimming meet at the La Playa pool. This meet will be open to all Carmel youngsters, and will include all age groups.

Last Friday night the Carmel Boys' and Girls' softball teams were guests of the Salinas teams at Salinas. Although the Carmel representatives lost both ball games, the evening was a success. After the games both teams enjoyed an evening of dancing and refreshments at the hosts' clubhouse.

GYMKHANA AT PEBBLE BEACH

A gymkhana, open to both children and adults, will be held at Pebble Beach Sunday and events will start at 1:30 p. m., it was announced this week by Dick Collins, chairman of the event.

Children's events will include musical post, costume race, potato race, obstacle race and saddleing race. Events open to all will be: musical chairs, stake bending and the relay race. In addition there will be both a ladies' race and a men's race.

Committee members under Collins are: Mrs. Helen Callen, Miss Peggy Doud, John B. Morse, William Wheeler, Alfred Wagstaff, III, and Col. R. E. Anderson.

RAIN-CHECK RESULTS

Mrs. W. Henderson and Charles M. Daniels were the winners of the weekly Rain-Check golf tournament at the Cypress Point Club last Saturday, finishing 8 up in the match-play-against-par contest. Daniels, 5 handicap, shot a scintillating 73.

Other players: Harry C. Hunt and Harrison Godwin, 7 up; Mrs. Frances A. Elkins and Charles M. Daniels, 7 up; Stuart Haldorn and Francis Shea, 6 up; Mrs. H. C. Hunt and the Club pro, Henry J. Puget, 5 up; Paul S. Winslow and T. Shoenhair, 2 up.

Days Before Yesterday

By Beth Ingels

Back in 1927 a movie company came to town. A picture called Paid to Love was to be filmed here and a number of local extras were needed. The company wanted something more than just a group of people for mob scenes, and fairly extravagant promises were made to a favored few of Carmel's more talented actors and actresses. Who knew but that fame and fortune in Hollywood awaited?

Virginia Valli starred in the picture, which Perry Newberry called "a high-priced film." Scenes were shot here and eventually the company returned to Hollywood. Several months later, Paid to Love was scheduled to be shown at Ted Kuster's Golden Bough Theatre, and naturally, there was a sell-out.

Although none of the local members of the cast were quite sure what the picture was about, they knew the scenes in which they had appeared and they were primed to point themselves out to admiring and proud friends and relatives. The house lights dimmed and a silence fell over the audience. What followed next can be described as sensational. The October 21, 1927 issue of the Pine Cone, carried the following review, which is quoted in part:

"It was a beautiful picture!"

"There was Vivian Higginbotham looking just lovely, what you could see of her—and everybody clapped their gloves into ribbons—those few who had gloves—both times she appeared.

"All of the Carmel actors and actresses came to see the presentation of Paid to Love, and they should have brought telescopes or asked that the film be slowed down, for except for the fact that Vivian eased herself into the camera's range a couple of times, you would scarcely have known that there was a Carmelite on location. True, Helen Judson got a hit-and-run in the fourth inning, but her part in the picture was over so quickly that her friends had time only to gasp, 'Oh, Helen!'

"Herbert Heron was awfully good, we think. He claims to have caught a glimpse of himself, but as long as nobody else did, we are not quite sure about his part in the production. Windsor Josselyn claimed he played the 'heavy' but some members of the audience had him confused with the bronze leg of an antique chair. But he was good. His remarkable poise and control were much applauded.

"Then there was a scene in a gambling club and one of the players in the background was wearing a beret and the audience went fairly wild, half of them because they thought it was Kit Cooke and the other half because they believed it was Smokie Heron.

"And in the moonlight scene, the Lombardy poplar gainst the sky was one of the Hestwood boys, and the rest of the background consisted of George Ball and Eric Wilkinson. Louise Walcott edged an ear and part of a hat into at least twenty feet of celluloid and cheers from the audience were hysterical.

"Friends of Iris Alberto (and Iris) were disappointed that the cutter in Hollywood seemed to think that a person named Virginia Valli had to be considered, cut out the very best of Iris's scenes, and then cut the rest, so that Iris, who really had an important role in the picture, couldn't be found at all. Iris says that if they do this two or three times more she will quit the company.

"All in all, it was a beautiful picture."

As we have remarked often in the past, you never know what you might find by going through old Pine Cone files. In the above story, Perry Newberry had designed a striking line drawing for illustration, complete with a close-up of one of our budding actresses (back view) and a credit to the reviewer who turns out to be none other than yours truly.

MY PLAYTIME IS SO BRIEF

Though I seek until my sap runs out,
I will never know what a wood's about;
Though I find a rabbit's lane and trace
A running track where the squirrels race;
A covert roofed for the wind when still,
Where the quail has dusted and shed a quill;
And much, much more will be in my eye,
Yet what of the things that pass me by:
The glint of a bird, the spiral of a song,
I must know them before I belong.

I have come humbly, an errant son,
Respectful, attentive, to see and con
The tolerant ways of a free breed,
In a green commune with each to his need;
I have served through the seasons, wind and rain;
In sun and shadow, been rasped by the grain
Of bark, I have flown with a wing straight up,
I have dropped with a bee in a flower-cup,
But, oh, that playtime is so brief,
I scarcely know a leaf from a leaf.

—Alex R. Schmidt.

WOMAN AND SAND

The sun goes down. The high hot winds
Cry passage through the closing door
That, shutting night from day, lays down
A silence on the desert floor.

She sits unmoving, strong, her shape
Hewn sculpture in an old design,
With eyes that reach their long-drawn gaze
Against a deep horizon-line.

On all that wide and level land,
No house, no road, no stretching tree
Has laid an earthly scar between
Her eye-frame and infinity.

From unplumbed space behind the wind,
She draws a tide-borne pulse of sense
That rises on the lifting swell
Of thought, full, fathomless, immense.

And where such august current beats
Across the lean, inconscient sand,
In one white instant fleshed with flame,
The living God has touched her hand.

—Jennette H. Yeatman

SIGNATURES

What written words or symbols men have sought
Compare with star processions through the nights
To make the heart remember its delights?
What patterened prayer or covered codes have caught
The same solemnity the prophets taught
Throughout the centuries of ancient rites?
The constellations march through storied heights
Like prophets with their secrets screened from thought.

When somnolent Destruction wrought her spells
On Sparta and Byzantium and Tyre,
She wrote her signature in drifting sands—
Scorning to mark those ancient citadels.
The stars inscribe their signatures in fire—
Trace and retrace their bold, prophetic hands.

—Helen Nivens.

By Wilma Cook

"Three hundred twenty-five of us were graduated one June not so many years ago with B.A. degrees from Yale. If any one of that group could call by name any native tree but the elm, I don't know who he was. The elm we all knew. Its deliquescent branches arched the campus and it was celebrated in a song 'Neath the Elms. But such recognition was hardly more complete than knowing the outside of a building which is a familiar presence but which you have never entered, and about which you feel no curiosity.

"I am quite sure that few, if any of us bachelors of art knew the following facts about the world around us: that there is an unbroken column of water in every living tree extending from the deepest rootlet to the topmost twig and that by a highly efficient mechanism the tree pulls on this as on a rope, lifting tons of water; that leaves are green because they throw away green light while absorbing and using blue and red light; that trees like oaks, elms and maples have flowers; that buds do not come out in the spring but are out and fully formed in the fall; that the flamboyant fall foliage is not just a dress parade, but a vital act of a tree and related to its preservation through the winter; that there is not an elm tree, but four kinds of elm; not an oak tree; but possibly a dozen separate kinds of oak in any one neighborhood; six kinds of maple; five kinds of hickory.

"If we were ignorant, back there when we were given diplomas, of such basic, highly interesting facts about the trees of the world in which we live, we were even less aware of wild flowers and their dramatic performances. We knew by name more flowers than trees, thanks to some primary grade teacher years back. But for bachelors of art the subject of skunk cabbages and buttercups had about as much meaning and prestige as paper dolls.

"No one knew that the flower which is called a daisy in everyday life is actually a closely packed aggregation of several hundred flowers, that each dot in the yellow center is a separate and complete flower, and each white 'petal' is a separate and complete flower . . . that roses and strawberries and apples are so closely related that they are members of the same family, that orchids grow not only in hothouses and equatorial jungles, but also abound all around us in wood and fields . . . that wheat, oats, corn and rye and sugar cane are grass, even though aristocratic grass . . . that every flower advertises for the special kind of insect with which it wants to collaborate in its life cycle, and has ingenious ways of rejecting other insect . . .

"This book contains a few hints of what is to be found and what goes on in our everyday outdoor environment."

"This book" is This Green World by Rutherford Platt, who does one of the most persuasive jobs on record of selling a scientific subject, botany, to a fiction reading public, and to do it he uses most of the wiles of the fiction writer—dramatization, suspense, surprise, vivid, entertaining, colorful writing — plus some photographic devices out of the sleeve.

Any Sunday supplement reader is familiar with the astonishing transformation by which a common old snow drop becomes a magic wheel when photographed with microscopic enlargement, that a drop of milk caught on the splash and so photographed puts Old Faithful at Yellowstone in the shade.

Platt has distributed among the perfectly honest plates color enlargements of pussy willow buds bursting open into billows of cotton, buds and flowers of trees and other plants that never could appear so enchanting in texture and design to the naked eye, as we see them in our back yard or down the lane. But perhaps the end justifies the means, for the enlargements, in addition to serving as eye-catchers to lure the reader into

From Bach To "Nola," Grainger's Farewell Performance In Carmel Proves One Of Musical Extremes

BY SOPHIE HARPE

Percy Grainger, who is on his farewell concert tour, was heard last Saturday evening at Sunset Auditorium in an informal but warmly received program, many listeners placing him in the already extended list of technical virtuosi. On the other hand, it left many with memories of earlier Hollywood Bowl appearances with a marked nostalgia for the warmer qualities and enthusiasm of former performances.

The program was also one of musical extremes, from the powerful Bach Toccata and Fugue in D minor to Arndt's old-time popular and lilting Nola, the latter meeting with marked approval. Shades of Kitten on the Keys and the Maple Leaf Rag!

The Chopin group of four etudes was faultlessly rendered, but the A flat Polonaise, which followed as encore, was sadly lacking in the essential elegance inherent in this dance form and evoking only a heavy and measured rhythm. There was a last minute substitution that changed the last half of the program in which Sibelius' Romance and Liszt's Rhapsody No. 2 were replaced by a Grainger piano arrangement of George Gershwin's, Love Walked Right In; Balakirew's Oriental Fantasy, Islamey; and two Henry Cowell compositions which afforded the audience an opportunity of hearing examples of the experimental element in contemporary American piano composition of which Mr. Cowell is a leading exponent.

The first of the two innovations was his Aeolian Harp in which, after the music rack has been removed, the strings are alternately plucked and stroked by the fingers. The second was Lilt of the Reel, which employed at times not only the individual fingers but the whole hand as a unit as well as the entire forearm, resulting in a crashing oversized chord effect that was full and rather rich in tonal quality, and this particular composition did convey in a marked measure the lilting quality suggested by the title. At the completion of the two numbers, Mr. Grainger called upon Mr. Cowell, who was in the audience, to stand, thereby giving many present at least a fleeting glimpse of the composer. In addition to the Chopin Polonaise and Nola encores were added three more or less to be expected ones and practically traditional in the closing of a Grainger concert; namely, Shepherd's Hey, Londonderry Air and the ubiquitous Country Gardens.

Many Spirituals Included In Hayes Program Saturday

Roland Hayes, the distinguished tenor, will be heard in solo recital in the Sunset School Auditorium, here tomorrow evening, with Elizabeth Alexander at the piano.

The program includes a group of Negro Spirituals, in response to many requests. The entire program is as follows: Alma Mia, from the opera Floridante, Handel; Wonne der Wehmuth, Beethoven; Sehnsucht, Beethoven; Maledetto Sia L'aspetto, Monteverde; Die Forelle, Schubert; Erster Verlust, Schubert; Die Taubenpost, Schubert; L'ombres des arbres, Debussy; Danse Macabre, Saint-Saens; Lament of Jan the Proud, Griffes; It was a Lover and his Lass, Roger Quilter; Mother Tom Son, Parham; Xango, (Brazilian African chant), arranged by Villa-Lobos; O Le' me Shine, arranged by Parham-Hayes; By and By, arranged by Hayes; Lit'l Boy; Good News, arranged by Hayes.

Born in poverty in a small backwoods Georgia town, Roland Hayes has risen to the pinnacle of eminence among concert artists, internationally recognized as one of the greatest singers of all time.

Both in words and pictures it is a very tricky and delightful business, and it will not be surprising if more than several readers find themselves with an infant interest in botany, which can progress from hobby to study, to life-long interest, once the attention is directed to This Green World.

Reviews Advantages of Bank Stocks

Investors intent on the upgrading of current holdings, in view of today's changing conditions, may well examine the desirability of leading bank stocks. Bank profits in 1945 were the best since 1929, and the trend for representative banks in 1946 is toward higher earnings levels.

The essential nature of the banking business under all conditions, the relative stability of income, the many long dividend records and the strong growth characteristics of these securities are all important investment considerations.

A group of selected Bank Stocks, plus several other industrial growth securities are covered in our August issue of

Surprise Party

Mr. and Mrs. DeWitt Appleton were the hosts at a surprise party for their eldest son's fiancee, Miss LaVerne Thompson on August 8, on the occasion of Miss Thompson's birthday.

LaVerne had dinner with the Appleton family and afterwards her friends all came in calling, "Happy Birthday!" Refreshments were then served and La Verne opened her gifts.

Those surprising LaVerne were: Nona Whitesides, Carol Walker, Golda Gilbert, Mr. and Mrs. Kent Whitcomb, Vincent Torras, Bobbie Morton, Milton Thompson, LaVerne's fiance, DeWitt, Jr. and Mickie and Gary Appleton.

Last week end LaVerne and DeWitt went to Modesto to visit LaVerne's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Angelo Lucido, on their ranch there.

W.S.C. Professor Here

Elinor Griffin is spending a few days of her California vacation in Carmel at Happy Hills. She is a professor of Child Development at Washington State College at Pullman.

The old saying that "you eventually see everybody in Carmel" proved true for Elinor and a sorority sister. She arrived in town Tuesday night and on Wednesday, while strolling down Dolores street, heard her name called, to be greeted by a friend whom she hadn't seen in eight years. "And I didn't think I knew a soul here!" she said.

House Guests In Highlands

Mrs. Esther Houseman and her son Warren of Los Angeles are spending two weeks with Judge Mary Bartelme in her home in the Highlands. They will also drive up the Redwood Highway and to Lake Tahoe.

Also part of the Bartelme household at present is Judge Bartelme's nephew, Phil Bartelme and his wife, Adelaide Bartelme, Judge Bartelme's niece who was secretary to Mrs. Blanchard and Judge Edward Zook of San Francisco.

Whit Wellmans On Vacation

Whit and Pat Wellman left their Carmel Highlands' home yesterday to drive over the Tioga Pass to the Mammouth Lakes where they will pursue the elusive trout. When asked how long they would be gone Whit told us, "As long as possible. I'm going to get lost in those lakes! Or maybe the car will break down after we get there."

Kill Rattlesnake

John and David Sellers were along on a hiking trip last Sunday up to Garrapata Creek when they came upon a large rattlesnake coiled in their pathway. With rocks and sticks they managed to kill it. After skinning it, they brought the skin and rattlers home to their parents, Mr. and Mrs. J. C. Sellers.

The Sellers have recently moved to Carmel. John will enter high school and David the eighth grade.

Home from Northern Trip

Mrs. Lester Rowntree of Carmel Highlands has returned home recently after a botanizing trip through Oregon, Washington, and Canada, where she visited expermental gardens, private gardens, and nurseries, gathering material for articles. As she illustrates her own books and articles, Mrs. Rowntree took pictures when possible.

Mrs. Rowntree, though she had made up her mind not to lecture on this trip, was prevailed upon in Victoria to speak before the Rock Garden Society. She visited the large arbaretun, which is in connection with the University of Washington in Seattle, and in Canada she went as far east as Okanagan, where she says they have an excellent governmental station.

Tea at Mrs. Van Dyck's

Mrs. John F. Van Dyck was hostess at a tea Monday afternoon honoring Mrs. B. A. Taylor. She left last Tuesday with her son Dick to join Captain Taylor in Weinheim, Germany. The honoree was presented with a gardenia corsage from the hostess and the other guests.

Guests were all Army wives, who are leaving shortly to join their husbands, they were: Mrs. Garnett H. Wilson who joins Colonel Wilson in Stuttgart; Mrs. Donald Hawley to join Colonel Hawley in Hawii; Mrs. John F. Saefke who will join Captain Saefke in Trieste; Mrs. I. C. Anderson to join Lt. Anderson in Germany; and Mrs. I. E. Flannery who goes to Detroit.

Eleven Pass Subject A

The University of California notified Superintendent Leo Harris this week that eleven out of thirteen Carmel High School students who took Subject A examinations recently, have passed. Students who took the traditional University of California hurdle successfully are: Carol Baxter, Caroll Briggs, Joan Dekker, Elizabeth Fish, Ann Hodgson, Barbara Josselyn, Doris Lewis, Audrey Mawdsley, Elizabeth Ryland, Barbara Timmins and Jeannie Viljoen.

To the Pine Cone reporter's comment, "That speaks well for the Carmel high school English department," Mr. Harris said, "Don't overlook the good grounding they got at Sunset."

Dr. Crowther In South

Dr. James E. Crowther, Pastor of the Church of the Wayfarer, is in the south for his annual medical check-up. The pulpit next Sunday, August 18, will be supplied by Maj. William J. Washer, Senior Chaplain at Fort Ord. His sermon theme will be, The Potter's Clay. The Chaplain's mother, also a Crowther, was from Coventry, England, while Dr. Crowther is from Burnley, in Lancashire. The Pastor will return to Carmel Friday, Aug. 23.

Nineteenth Honeymoon

Mr. and Mrs. Alan Stuckey of San Francisco spent last weekend at the Carmel Inn, the occasion being their nineteenth wedding anniversary. Mrs. Stuckey, a member of the San Francisco Realty Board, managed a bus man's holiday by visiting several real estate offices and finally emerging from one owning a lot. They hope to build here shortly.

Mrs. Taylor and Son To Germany

Mrs. B. A. Taylor and her son Dick, left Tuesday for New York. They will sail from New York for Weinheim, Germany, where they will join Captain Taylor.

The Taylors have made their home in Carmel for the past three stationed at Fort Ord, as well as while he was overseas. Mrs. Taylor served on the Board of Directors for the Monterey Peninsula Unit of AWVS.

Captain Taylor has a house ready and waiting for them. Richard, who attended Carmel High, will continue his studies in Germany in the school which has been started for the children of the Occupation Forces.

Hostess by Proxy Luncheon

Miss Ruth Higby attended a luncheon at the Clairmont Hotel in Oakland Saturday for the bride of her nephew Lt. John Higby, who has recently come from Washington, D. C., to make his home in San Francisco. Interesting feature of the luncheon was the fact that the hostess, Lt. Higby's twin sister, is in Stockholm, Sweden, serving as secretary to the American legation there. Mrs. Claire Bacon of Piedmont, cousin of the twins, provided with a guest list, favors, placecards, and attractively carved favors sent from Sweden, served as hostess by proxy. The young couple were Carmel visitors the preceding week.

Guests At "Manakesa"

Mrs. George Marwedel of Piedmont and Mr. and Mrs. James Mannocci of San Francisco were the week end guests of Dr. and Mrs. George McClure at their Carmel Valley ranch home Manakesa.

On Sunday several friends drove out for cocktails and to toast Dr. and Mrs. McClure on their twenty-third wedding anniversary.

We like Chanel's custom of giving merely numbers to perfumes. On FORTIER'S shelves down on Ocean Avenue there sits, for instance, Chanel No. 22. — just "Chanel No. 22". To make it complete, Chanel should add simply, "It smells good." However, if you want a nice name as well as a pleasant scent De Heriot is well represented in FORTIER'S by White Lace, Parma Violet, Wood Lilac and Gardenia, all scents coming in perfume, toilet water, bath powder, lip rouge, cream and clear cologne. Adrian, the famous dress designer, puts the same spirit into his toiletries that won him fame in another field, and he lays a net for all women with his Saint and Sinner perfumes, which may be matched in toilet water and bath powder. Dana guarantees practically anything to the wearer of Platine, 20 Carat, or Tabu, though what Lentheric intends for the wearers of Asphodele it's hard to say. Classicly, the asphodel is the unfading flower which covers the meadows of Hades. Lentheric favors gay happy scents with appropriate names, — Asphodel, I suppose, is a little heady, — Pink Party, Confetti, A Bientot, are all pleasing. Look into Rigaud's Un Air Embaume'. It's an old scent but a very fine one, makes you think of many delightful things.

If you're from Washington or Oregon, they're crawfish. If you're from elsewhere they may be crayfish or even ecrevisse, but if you're in the Carmel region, you are probably engaged in pulling them out of the river. Now that you've caught your crayfish (Old High German, crebig, from the same stem as crab) the CARMEL BOOKSELLERS on Mission north of Fifth will be of great help to you with the ESCOFFIER COOK BOOK which lists no less than nineteen ways of preparing crayfish. You may have crayfish toast, timbale, souffle, butter, mousse or crayfish with champagne. However, first the crayfish must be thoroughly cleansed and cleared of their intestines, the end of which is to be found under the middle of the tail. To clean, pull gently on the tail section with the point of a small knife and a thumb. Then set them to cook until the shells are a fine red color. With a mirepoix, a little taragon and chervil, your crayfish will come to the table in a burst of glory. If you want to go really deeply into the preparation of crayfish, the ESCOFFIER COOK BOOK at the CARMEL BOOKSELLERS is certainly your dish.

THE DISCOVERY SHOP on Dolores continues to turn up with the most beautiful modern dining tables in town. Mr. Valenzuela says they're ideal for informal or outdoors dining, but I'd take them into the bosom of my family and build my dining room around them. There's a proud beauty in THE DISCOVERY SHOP now with a simple frame of chartreuse duralumin holding a sheet of heavy pale green glass with the limpid look of a lily pond. Six people may be easily seated around this masterpiece on chairs of wheat colored bamboo with seats and backs of pale green webbing. Designers began using bamboo and reed construction when more conventional materials disappeared, and this necessity has been a virtue, for THE DISCOVERY SHOP'S bamboo furniture cannot be matched for beauty, durability and sheer style.

JOYCE'S on Ocean Avenue has a whole new menagerie in the showcase, and the next best thing to a live lizard tethered to your lapel is one of handwrought silver from JOYCE'S new collection of fine silver pins, made with delicate detail and good safety catches to keep your prize from straying away. There's a sly silver fox with slavering jaws and a bushy tail and a face any Reynard would be proud to own. If you're partial to poodles, there's a fine French poodle prancing along. Turtles, cupids, donkeys, lobsters, dogs, goldfish, JOYCE'S has them in the same fine pins, with earrings and bracelets to match.

CARMEL RESTAURANT AND FOUNTAIN is the new name of Senac's up on the northeast corner of Ocean and Mission. Benny Yeban, George Rosales and Nick Imperial have bought Senac's and their promises of home-made cakes and pies and hot breads are enough to bring people streaming into the place. George Rosales, formerly at the Mission Ranch and the Continental Room, is acting head chef. He hasn't been able to locate his chef's cap yet, but from eight in the morning until nine thirty at night he'll be in the kitchen turning out delicacies. His hot rolls would be elegant for breakfast, or would you like a piece of pie?

The authentic Scotch plaids in the window of PUTNAM AND RAGGETT up on Ocean Avenue have been catching wistful glances from the eyes of every man who passes by. It's not too early to start a Christmas present of a fine plaid shirt for your husband, and these Scotch plaids are perfect for men's shirts, as well as for dresses, skirts or lounging robes. The proud names of Macleod, Rob Roy, Barclay, Jacobite, Buchanan, Grey Douglas, Gordon, Erracht Cameron must appeal not only to your family pride, but to your sense of romance. The material is a crown-tested rayon, washable and of guaranteed fast color, in a super-spun suede finish, soft yet strong. The Gordon dress plaid is particularly beautiful, a large white and gray plaid overlaid with fine stripes of blue and yellow.

Some woman who would like an easy and pleasant position playing records and tending shop each afternoon from two to eight p.m., including every third Sunday, is urgently requested to see Gil Severns in his electrical shop up on Ocean Avenue between San Carlos and Mission. Mr. Severns needs such an assistant badly and all she will have to do is watch the rapid flow of stoves, refrigerators, radios, victrolas, records, lamps and all other electrical equipment in and out of SEVERNS.

When you think that Carmel's real summer is still ahead of us, the summer clearance sale at the CINDERELLA SHOP on Ocean Avenue assumes added importance. There is a rack of beautiful summer dresses on sale at the CINDERELLA in cotton, raw silk, and rayon jersey, and linen. These dresses were originally priced from $24.95 to $55.00 and now they may be yours at prices ranging from $15.00 to $25.00. All through the sunny months of September and October you may step forth proudly in one of these delightful bargains from the CINDERELLA SHOP, where the reductions on fine clothes of fine materials are really drastic.

BEAUX ARTS PHOTOGRAPHY SHOP on Lincoln and Ocean bravely announces they still have film in all popular sizes and are expecting more of it daily. Not only can you buy your film at BEAUX ARTS but also you can take advantage of their fine twenty-four hour printing, developing and enlarging service, which Mr. Hudder, with becoming modesty, describes as "a little better than average". You may still send in your application, also, for the camera club which will begin work early in September.

JEAN RITCHIE'S YARN SHOP, which you may enter from either Seventh or Dolores, has the gayest plaid taffetas in town made into knitting bags. There is one beautiful taffeta to catch your eye with broad black satin stripes bordered in white and red, but there are dozens of other bags, beautifully made, in faille, cotton, and leather to be found in JEAN RITCHIE'S. Many of the taffeta bags are reduced now and also on sale are several bags suitable for either knitting or handbags, in a corde like silky fabric, accented with narrow ridges of brilliant color. A bag such as this will be beautiful with a dark suit. JEAN RITCHIE'S YARN SHOP has the exclusive agency in town for bags with the patented spring top which stays open when you open it and closed when it should. This is the only handbag closure I have yet seen which not only makes the contents of your handbag instantly and continuously available, but also keeps the bag safely closed.

The spicy scent of chrysanthemums to make you think of football games and all the panoply of autum is drifting out of the N. B. FLOWER SHOP on Lincoln south of Ocean. The first chrysanthemums of the season are in the shop, little button ones in demure or bright colors and the sophisticated fuji variety with its shaggy head. There's mignonette, delphinium in royal colors, anthurium with its unusual lacquered surfaces and a whole jungle of greenery, from the mammouth twining lacy leaves of philodendron monstera to the crispy frosted leaves of cyngonium. In the center of all this beauty of green leaves is a twisted driftwood trunk, with three sprays of orchids rising from it. Someone with great imagination has been at work in N. B. FLOWER SHOP.

It is the fine dressmaker touch that makes the new fall suits at COLLEGIATE DRESS SHOP on Alvarado Street in Monterey exceptional and beautiful. Whether it's the skillful rounding of a lapel, the graceful line of a dropped shoulder emphasized with gold thread, or a soft sleeve gathered into a neat cuff, the details of the suits at COLLEGIATE DRESS SHOP add to the beauty of the ensemble that touch of individuality which is essential. You'll find suits at The COLLEGIATE in a wide variety of materials and the field is absolutely open as to color. Soft greens, smart browns and the new smoke gray are popular, but there are suits to be had in practically every color. Then match your suit with a beautifully tailored topcoat from THE COLLEGIATE SHOP.

Respighi's symphonic poem "The Pines of Rome" has returned to the shelves of LIAL'S MUSIC STORE in Carmel on Ocean and Monte Verde. One of Miss Lial's waylaid signs has returned too, although the other sign, in which she took great pride, is still missing. If you have it you might bring it back and listen to some of the fine records in the shop. "The Pines of Rome" is only one of the new albums. This is a Columbia Masterwork recording by Eugene Ormandy and the Philadelphia Orchestra and is one of Respighi's most famous works. The trees of Rome are his point of departure—the trees under which children play, as well as the sentinel trees guarding the highways of past glory and the ancient tombs.

Woo Foy, whose reputation as a cook is deservedly excellent, is head chef in the DINING ROOM at LA RIBERIA HOTEL on Lincoln and Seventh. The ability to make a soup of character is one of the marks of a good cook and the soups from Mr. Foy's kitchen are almost ambrosial, quite in keeping with the rest of his fare. Mr. Hellum, manager of the DINING ROOM at LA RIBERA, is widely and pleasantly remembered for his work as chief steward at the main officers' club at Fort Ord. Ask any member of the old Seventh Division. Now he presides at La Ribera DINING ROOM and for breakfast, from 8.00 to 10:30 a.m.; for luncheon from 12:00 til 2:00; and for dinner, from 5:30 til 9:00 p.m. He promises you good food, good service.

Give that prize picture of yours the frame it deserves. REMO, at the PAT WALL GALLERY OF MODERN PAINTINGS on Olivier Street in Monterey, is a specialist in designing frames which are more than just frames. A frame by REMO will enhance your picture and bring out all its beauty, besides being a thing of beauty in itself.

Among the many new fall suits in HOWARD'S DRESS SHOP on Alvarado in Monterey is one particularly fine suit of grey men's wear flannel with a fine line of chalk pink and white. This is a three piece suit with a cardigan neckline and original styling in its pockets, the flaps of which are cut and sewn to make a pleasing pattern. The suit jacket is closed by one bright lucite button, matched by the three buttons of the topcoat. The lines of the suit are as fine as the details of its workmanship and the price is $39.75 for the suit and the same price for the topcoat. There are suits at HOWARD'S in covert, garbardine, flannel and checks and all of them are 100% virgin wool. You'll need a tailored suit for fall, so look to HOWARD'S.

If you've had a fine summer, with much sun and air and water, fresh or salt, you're doubtless in fine health but your hair needs attention. Whatever your hair needs, the OGILVIE SISTERS PREPARATIONS FOR THE HAIR at DOLORES PHARMACY on Dolores South of Ocean can change your hair from its lifeless, sun-bleached, end-of-summer look to crisp, shining loveliness. The OGILVIE SISTERS, who are actually a company of Scotch sisters, have excellent preparations for every kind and condition of the hair. Their PROTECSUN lotion is a good thing to have on hand now because this is ideal for protecting the hair in the sun, preventing its drying out and fading, and PROTECSUN is just as good for the skin as it is for the hair and scalp. It will help to prevent the coarsening of your skin which too much sun frequently causes.

LUCITE, that magic material with the strength of metal and the beauty of clear crystal, will draw your eye irresistably to the beautiful brushes in STANIFORD'S DRUG STORE on the corner of Ocean and San Carlos. With lucite backs and handles and nylon bristle, the brushes at STANIFORD'S look as if they belong in a jewel case, but the Owen's and Prophylactic brushes will stand up under continued long wear, and be highly decorative while they're doing it. There are square lucite nail brushes and hair brushes with handles curved to fit the hand, and military brush sets, all of them bright and shining. STANIFORD'S has a military brush set by BENNINGTON which looks absolutely regal with its golden-backed brushes and the spun crystal of its nylon bristles. There's a long handled lucite and nylon bath brush, too, which is handsome enough to put in a frame.

Spice cup cakes, rich with ginger, cinnamon and allspice, frosted with chocolate, decorated with a walnut meat in the center, are being borne proudly from the kitchen of the DOLORES BAKERY on Dolores, south of Ocean, for week-end goodness. Such cup cakes are accompanied from the Bakery ovens by jelly rolls of light sponge, filled with tart plum jam. All this for the week-end at DOLORES BAKERY. Need we say more?

TheHillyers, at the HILLYER COFFEE SHOP on San Carlos, south of Ocean, need a waitress and kitchen help to help them to continue serving their delectable meals. Mr. Hillyer says someone with the strength of an ox, the speed of a gazelle and the silence of the night would be nice, but anyone with elementary coordination may apply.

Having been in the radio business since 1922, practically since its birth, Mr. Bayard Wiest, at the BAYARD RADIO SERVICE on Sixth between Dolores and San Carlos, is an accomplished diagnostician where the ills and ails of radios and electrical phonographs are concerned. If you're having trouble with a sickly machine, which produces squeaks and groans instead of Beethoven, Mr. Bayard can certainly bring your radio or phonograph back to good voice. Very shortly, too, BAYARD RADIO SERVICE will have some elegant new radio-phonograph combinations to sell.

Not just corn, which is good, but Improved Carmel Valley Golden Bantam Corn ,which is infinitely better, is to be found in quantity on the shelves of the PRODUCE DEPARTMENT OF THE CARMEL DRIVE-IN MARKET on Dolores and Eighth. This corn is a direct descendant of a long line of Golden Bantams, and for thirty-five years, ever since its ancestors were introduced into Carmel Valley, corn breeders have been working with it and improving it, until this Carmel Valley Golden Bantam corn of today is the result, perfectly suited to the climate, small, close-kernelled, juicy, tender and sweet. What more can you ask —and it's yours until the middle of September—.

DEREK RAYNE, Carmel's Shop for Men, has just received a shipment of imported Harris tweed sport jackets in plaids, checks, heather mixtures and the russet brown, typical of Harris tweed. This is cause for jubilation and doesn't happen every day.

Carmel Crime Is Mild But Steady

Village crime goes on apace! This week's entries on the Carmel Police blotter include person or persons unknown entering the Pine Inn kitchen. Nothing was taken. Somebody stole all the panties and brassieres off the clothes line of a Carmel citizen, but left the rest of the wash to console the owner.

Still puzzling the police is who left a box of groceries, $17.00 worth, sitting on the corner of Tenth and Torres last Friday. Detective work on the contents led to the conclusion that there was a baby in the family (a package of "Pablum") an over-weight adult, (Rye-Crisps) and no wonder, since there was a meat order consisting of pot roast, bacon, salt pork, lamb chops, cottage cheese and cheddar cheese. These latter items the police deposited in the ice box of a local butcher for safe keeping. The rest of the groceries are still waiting in the police office to be claimed.

Other crime headlines of the week include the cat that invaded a pigeon pen, killing four prize pigeons belonging to L. Halman and valued at $25.00 each; the sixteen-year-old boy who was "making a noise" with a model airplane, according to a neighbor who complained. The boy said he was sorry and he would stop.

Task Force Williwaw Leaves For Aleutians

An advance unit of Task Force Williwaw left Fort Ord this week for the Aleutian Islands to set up camps for other trained units in that area. These units will be used to test out Army equipment during freezing and sub-zero weather, and they will make complete surveys from October until May 1 of next year.

The Williwaw is one of three separate task forces to engage in maneuvers during this period. Units will be stationed at Adak and Ladd Field, with additional men being sent to join the advance contingent next month.

Mrs. Sarah Smith

News of the death of Mrs. Sarah Smith in Minneapolis last Sunday, was received here by her son, O. H. Smith, Carmel resident. She was 97 years of age.

During a visit here four years ago with her daughter, Coe Smith, she made many friends in Carmel who will learn of her passing with regret. She made her home in Minneapolis with her daughter up until the time of her death.

Getting Around The Peninsula

Club. Entry blanks may be secured from the Del Monte Kennels, Jezebel Kennels and from Dr. John Craige. All entries will be benched, making the show more enjoyable and convenient for both entrants and spectators.

As though the Carmel postoffice doesn't have enough troubles with careless users of the mails, now comes another headache. This one concerns those people, usually tourists, who purchase postcards, stamp them, write a personal message to the effect that Maggie or John is having a wonderful time, and then fail to address them. Postmaster Ernest Bixler tells us that there are at least three or four of these cards mailed here each day. The latest one, a photo of Carmel Mission, is addressed merely, "Hi Folks." Now "folks" will never believe that the sender mailed a card to them at all.

Of interest to Carmel gardeners will be the recently published book, Geraniums, by Helen Van Pelt Wilson, obtainable at all local book-sellers. An authoritative guide on the planting and care of all varieties of pelargoniums, this carefully prepared volume will prove a help to all those who are raising these colorful flowers. Mrs. Wilson, it will be remembered, has visited here and, during her time on the Peninsula, studied the types most successfully grown in this area. Included in the volume is a section of interesting photographs, as well as a number of drawings.

REAL ESTATE CLASS TO OPEN AUGUST 20

A real estate school will open in Salinas on Tuesday evening, Aug. 20, at 7:30 o'clock in the auditorium of the Woman's Club, located on Lincoln Avenue near the corner of West Gabilan St., Salinas.

Men and women will be trained for the state examination for a broker's or salesman's license in seven weeks.

The class will be instructed by Eugene G. Garvin, a licensed real estate broker, who has had over 30 years of experience as a lecturer and teacher.

Mr. Garvin conducts real estate classes in Santa Monica, Santa Ana, Pomona, Redondo Beach, Laguna Beach, Riverside, Redlands, Bakersfield, Santa Barbara, and San Luis Obispo, and has enjoyed a splendid success in those cities.

The training will consist of practical instruction on the principles of real estate conveyancing, the general legal effect of deeds, mortgages, land contracts, and leases; land economics, ethics, escrows, principal and agent, real estate practice, and the real estate law.

Mr. Garvin will devote a full evening after the completion of the training, advising the students on how to get started in the real estate profession either part or full time; about associating with established brokers or starting for themselves; how to secure listings and make sales; going through escrow, etc.

There will be a reasonable tuition fee, which can be paid in installments.

Prospective students of Carmel, Monterey and vicinity are invited by Mr. Garvin to attend the "opening session" without charge or obligation. —Adv.
